Techflow has been one of the largest manufacturers of Pulse Jet dust collector (Cartridge type) since 1980. The inspiration behind designing the Cartridge Type Filter was to reduce the spacing and perform better in comparison to hose type bag filter. The Cartridge Type Pulse Jet Dust Collector is used in medium range temperature applications where in dust particles are floating freely. Various de-dusting filtration mediums are available depending upon the application. In this system, time defined pulses or compressed air flows in opposite direction of the main airflow. Now by temporary reversal through cleaning-blast via venturi, the cartridge surface is cleaned.
